

Recycling the Water Debate

When it comes to earth's water there's always been the same amount it just keeps on recycling so take that into account

Some of the cycles are "natural" some of them are not but they've continued
since the year dot

Why think about water at some past point in time what does it matter who gives a dime?

The history of any water doesn't bear thinking about those molecules have "got around" without a shadow of doubt!

It's what our water is now that should be our only concern if we want virginal drops we should all water spurn!

Andrew Darbyshire
June, 2006